Previous Rejections

Unless specifically repeated/maintained infra, all previous rejections are withdrawn.

Claim Informality

Claims 48 and 55, second line of each claim, in each instance “comprising” should read -
-- comprises ---.

Anticipation Rejection

The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

Claims 45 and 48-50 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Fenn et al (USP 4,311,479).

The prior art discloses antimicrobial wiping cloths (“matrices”) comprising a mixture of a water insoluble polymer (polyurethane, polyethylene, etc: see column 2, lines 20-25), a water-soluble polymer (polymeric bisguanide: see especially column 2, lines 56-63), and a water-soluble indicator dye (column 3, lines 31 et seq.).

Obviousness Rejection

The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

This application currently names joint inventors. In considering patentability of the claims under 35 U.S.C. 103(a), the examiner presumes that the subject matter of the various claims was commonly owned at the time any inventions covered therein were made absent any evidence to the contrary. Applicant is advised of the obligation under 37 CFR 1.56 to point out the inventor and invention dates of each claim that was not commonly owned at the time a later invention was made in order for the examiner to consider the applicability of 35 U.S.C. 103(c) and potential 35 U.S.C. 102(e), (f) or (g) prior art under 35 U.S.C. 103(a).

The factual inquiries set forth in Graham v. John Deere Co., 383 U.S. 1, 148 USPQ 459 (1966), that are applied for establishing a background for determining obviousness under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) are summarized as follows:

1. Determining the scope and contents of the prior art.
2. Ascertaining the differences between the prior art and the claims at issue.
3. Resolving the level of ordinary skill in the pertinent art.
4. Considering objective evidence present in the application indicating obviousness or nonobviousness.

Claim 52 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Fenn et al (USP 4,311,479) in view of Drelich (USP 2,880,112).

Art Unit: 1614

The primary reference is discussed supra and differs from the instant claim insofar as it does not specifically disclose polystyrene, although it does generally suggest the use of “many polymeric materials” at column 2, lines 15-25.

The secondary reference teaches that polystyrene is a known polymer for use in forming antimicrobial wiping cloths (column 1, last paragraph), especially when used in combination with other polymers as a strengthener. The secondary reference differs from the instant claims insofar as it does not specify incorporation of a water-leachable dye into a matrix comprising a mixture of water-soluble and water-insoluble polymers.

It would have been obvious to have incorporated polystyrene into the wiping cloths of the primary reference, motivated by the desire to provide improved strength as taught by the secondary reference.

Allowable Subject Matter

Claims 53-59 are allowable as presently advised.

Claims 46, 47 and 51 are objected to as being dependent upon a rejected base claim, but would be allowable if rewritten in independent form including all of the limitations of the base claim and any intervening claims.

The prior art does not fairly suggest, teach or disclose the subject matter of the instant claims. More specifically, Fenn et al (USP 4,311,479) disclose using their water-soluble polymer (polymeric bisguanide) in amounts sufficient to impregnate the cloth. As is clear from the disclosure of column 3, line 26, the amounts used are lower than 50 percent by weight.

Furthermore, polyethyleneoxide homopolymers are not fairly suggested, taught or disclosed.

Action is Final, Necessitated by Amendment

Applicant's amendment necessitated the new ground(s) of rejection presented in this Office action. Accordingly, THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. See MPEP § 706.07(a).

Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the date of this final action.
